ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1913. PRICE TWO CENTS.

Full Serpentine Front, in Mahogany.

In Mahogany or Birdseye Maple and Burcaus to match.

Inexpensiveness and beauty are two strong features at The Titus Store; newness and originality make our stock of the most desirable sort. Our furniture is "different" from the ordinary furniture offerings, adding a touch of exclusiveness which comparatively few homes possess. And as illustrating this we point to the

Roomy and Artistic

Chiffonier in Mahogany shown in the picture. The front is "Serpentine" or "rounded out" on graceful lines—a departure that is most effective but which must be seen to receive full measure of appreciation.

We submit that with all its strong points the special Titus price is gratifyingly low $16.20

UNITED STATES HAS NO PLAN OR PROGRAM.

Only Great Nation in the World Not to Use Budget System.

Taft's Recommendations in Much-Discussed Message Before Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Taft today sent to Congress his much-discussed "budget" message. He recommended the adoption of a budget system of relating proposed expenditures to expected revenues, and declared that Congress would be greatly benefited by having before it such a statement before it began the annual grind on appropriation bills. The United States, the President wrote, is the only great nation in the world which does not use the budget system, and in consquence it "may be said to be without plan or program." He indicated that, owing to the late day at which he was able to transmit his message, he expected little legislation on the topic from the present Congress.

The President took full responsibility for the message upon himself. Congress in the last sundry civil bill directed the Secretary of the Treasury to submit estimates hereafter in the old way. Mr. Taft pointed out, however, that he had directed the Secretary of the Treasury to agree with the directions of Congress, and also to send him information for a budget message. He referred Congress, also, to the portion of the Constitution which requires him from time to time to recommend such measures as he shall deem necessary and expedient.

AMENDMENTS TO BE MADE.

Bill to Create Department of Labor Passes the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The bill to create a Department of Labor, with a cabinet officer at its head, passed the Senate today after less than an hour's consideration. The measure had previously passed the House, but amendments in the Senate will require its perfection in conference before it is presented to President Taft. The filibuster carried on against the bill last night by Senators Guggenheim and Gronna was not resumed today.

One amendment will put the new children's bureau under the direction of the Secretary of Labor. The division of immigration and naturalization would be separated into two bureaus and the present bureau of labor would be known as the bureau of labor statistics. The division of information of the present Department of Commerce and Labor also would go into the new department.

GENERAL DEFICIENCY BILL.

Act Before House Provides Sum for Widows of Representatives.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The general deficiency bill, carrying $24,235,740 to supply deficiencies in appropriations, was reported to the House today. It provides for the commerce court until Congress decides whether the tribunal shall be abolished and provides $7,500 each for the widows of the late Representatives Anderson of Ohio, Connell of Pennsylvania, Utter of Rhode Island, McHenry of Pennsylvania, Wedemeyer of Michigan, S. C. Smith of California and Legare of South Carolina.

MRS. PANKHURST ON TRIAL.

Charged With Inciting Persons to Commit Damage to Property.

EPSOM, England, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, was committed for trial by the police magistrate here today on charge of inciting persons to commit malicious damage to property. The court house was ablaze with suffragette colors and almost every seat was occupied by militant suffragists when the magistrate took his seat to resume the hearing adjourned from yesterday. Archibald H. Bodkin, counsel for the treasury department, appeared to prosecute. He demanded the committal of Mrs. Pankhurst for trial at the court assizes, saying that she was a self-confessed accessory to the explosion which wrecked Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George's house, than which he declared a more abominable and cruel tragedy probably had never been conceived.

Mr. Bodkin then read copious extracts from Mrs. Pankhurst's speeches delivered at public meetings January 27, January 30, February 3 and February 19 as evidence that she had been seditiously plotting and conspiring to commit outrages on property and persons, "with the avowed object of overawing the public and rendering the lives of prominent men intolerable and thereby coercing the government."

At a meeting she announced that the suffragettes were planning and "exciting civil war," while at Cardiff she made the declaration: "We have blown up the chancellor of the Exchequer's house." Mrs. Pankhurst did not offer any defense today, declaring that she reserved it for the trial at the assizes.

Mrs. Pankhurst when she was committed for trial by the magistrate informed him that she would forthwith begin a "hunger strike." She added: "If I am still alive when the assizes commence it will be a dying woman who will be tried."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Mr. George B Smith, a member of Lawton-Warren Post, will talk to the boys at the Young Men's Christian Association Friday evening on some incidents of the Civil war, with a special description of the battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac. This will be the second in the series of entertainments for the boys' department, for the high school, grammar school and employed boys.

The old-fashioned singing school which was given at the Young Men's Christian Association about a year ago with much success is to be repeated about the first of May in a little different way, under the name of "The Village Choir". J. D. Bassett of Boston will have general direction of the affair and charge of the costuming, stage setting, etc.

STATE LIKELY NEVER TO BE CALLED UPON.

Chamberlin Urges Southern New England Guarantee.

Favorable Report on 54-Hour Bill for Women and Children.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 26.—President Chamberlin of the Grand Trunk Railway arrived in Providence this morning on a special train, accompanied by officials of the Grand Trunk, Central Vermont and Southern New England railways. They called on Governor Pothier. Mr. Chamberlin addressed the legislators during a recess this noon, and informally the party looked over the new Providence dock plans, the road having agreed to rent half, and also met a committee from the Providence city council during their stay.

A 54-hour bill for women and children, which affects mercantile establishments as well as manufacturing plants, was favorably reported to the house by the committee on labor. The measure, which was introduced by a leader of the Republican majority, provides for a maximum day of 10 hours. It is claimed that because of the provisions of the bill department stores would be unable to keep open Saturday nights.

Mr. Chamberlin in his talk to the legislators asked that the state place its guarantee after that of the Central Vermont Railway on bonds of $6,000,000, in order that the Southern New England branch of the Canadian road may be completed. He assured the Assemblymen that the road will surely be finished without delay if this assistance is granted, and that no risk of loss would be incurred by the state in taking this action. President Chamberlin explained that it was the intention of the late President Hays to finance the road with the assistance of the Grand Trunk and the Central Vermont, but that it is now impossible for the Canadian road to guarantee the bonds of the Southern New England, and the Central Vermont never having done any financing in this country, was not in a position to be of material assistance.

"I have irfed, since my connection with the Grand Trunk Railway and the Central Vermont," he said, "to carry out what I believe was the policy of Mr. Hays relative to the promotion of the Southern New England, but for reasons above suggested I have not so far been successful in negotiating the Southern New England bonds. Being a new Englander myself, I am well aware of the conservatism of the New England people, and you may be well assured that I have left no stone unturned in my search for capital before asking you, as I now do, to place the guarantee of the state of Rhode Island after that of the Central Vermont Railway on the bonds of the Southern New England. If this guarantee can be secured, I am assured, and assure you, that there would be no difficulty in securing the necessary funds to complete the Southern New England Railway.

"I believe the state in granting this guarantee will take no risk whatever. It has been estimated by my predecessor on the Central Vermont Railway that the Southern New England will be much more than self-sustaining. The Central Vermont has never failed since its re-organization in 1899 to earn and pay the interest on its bonds. In addition to this, it has a traffic guarantee of the interest on the bonds from the Grand Trunk Railway, which amount at the present time to about $900,000 a year, but has never found it necessary to call on the Grand Trunk Railway for any contribution on account of this guarantee. When you consider that the fixed charges of $6,000,000 at four per cent is only $240,000 per annum, this traffic guarantee, on top of the Central Vermont guarantee, should convince the most sceptical that there is very little danger of any call ever being made on the state of Rhode Island in connection with this matter.

"I say to you today, as I said when the work was slowed down, that it is only a question of funds, and if the state of Rhode Island is willing to lend its credit to the end that we may be able to secure money at a reasonable rate, the work will go on, and the state will never be called upon to pay any part of the interest or principal."

SENTENCE POSTPONED.

Stephen R. Dow Found Guilty of Conversion of $300,000.

BOSTON, Feb. 26.—Stephen R. Dow, a member of the Boston Stock Exchange, was found guilty today of the conversion of $300,000 from four mining companies in which he was interested and whose stocks were dealt with on the local exchange.

Dow's brokerage education was obtained in a local Stock Exchange house but after a few years of clerkship he purchased a seat on the local exchange through the aid, as he stated at the trial, of a prominent woman opera singer.

A few years ago he obtained control of four Michigan mining companies, the Algomah, Indiana, Franklin and North Lake. His finances became involved in 1911, but the firm was saved through a committee of the Stock Exchange. The final break came in October, 1912, when the firm of Stephen R. Dow & Co. went into bankruptcy and Dow was arrested and indicted in 92 counts, charging conversion, larceny and embezzlement of the funds of the four companies.

In returning a verdict today the jury found that Dow was guilty only on 24 counts, all charging conversion of the funds of the four companies, which is not regarded as so great a crime as that of larceny or embezzlement and justifies a less severe penalty.

Judge Brown postponed sentence until a later date and continued Dow's bail of $25,000. It is expected that an appeal will be taken to the supreme court, which may still further delay the sentence. Dow is 32 years old and married.

TWO-BATTLESHIP PLAN DEFEATED IN HOUSE.

Democrats Carry an Amendment for Only One Vessel.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The two-battleship program, favorably reported by the House naval committee, was defeated today in the House, sitting as a committee of the Whole. An amendment to appropriate for one battleship only went through, 144 to 133. A majority of the Democrats voted for the amendment, while the Republicans were almost solidly against it.

A riotous scene occurred when, during the consideration of the bill, Representative Murray of Massachusetts, standing upon the Speaker's rostrum, demanded recognition to make a parliamentary point of order against two members having the same views acting as tellers on a one-battleship proposition.

Representative Alexander of Missouri, presiding over the House, repeatedly ordered Mr. Murray back to the floor, and finally by his direction Mr. Murray was forcibly removed from the rostrum by deputy sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Murray fought against this removal and his coat was almost pulled off in taking him away. Mr. Murray's colleagues gathered around him quickly, Speaker Clark took the chair and order was restored.

After Speaker Clark took the chair Mr. Murray was recognized to make a speech of explanation, during which he contended that he found authority for his action in a book he had read at the Congressional Library. Later Mr. Murray apologized to the House.

CASTRO WARMLY GREETED.

Sole Object of Visit to Accept Invitations That Had Been Sent Him.

HAVANA, Feb. 26.—General Cipriano Castro, former dictator of Venezuela, arrived here today on board steamer Saratoga from New York and was greeted enthusiastically by the populace. No opposition was offered to his landing. A flotilla of chartered tugs and launches crowded with people met the Saratoga off Morro Castle and accompanied her to her anchorage. On board the ano tug was the municipal band, which played the Cuban and Venezuelan anthems.

General Castro landed on San Francisco wharf, where about 500 people were gathered. As he passed through them he raised his hat and repeated several times "Viva" for the Cuban nation. The people responded with cheers for Castro. The entire crowd followed the visitor, who drove in an automobile decorated with the Venezuelan colors, to his hotel, where General Rafeal Reyes, ex-president of Colombia, also resides. The procession, headed by the municipal band, passed in front of the presidential palace. President Gomez did not appear on the balcony, reserving his reception of General Castro for the afternoon.

A banquet is to be given tomorrow in General Castro's honor and many other entertainments have been planned for him. Ex-President Castro declared today his sole object in coming to Cuba was to accept the many invitations which had been pressed upon him for months.

OPEN FOR FRESH PROPOSALS.

Pasha's Mission to London on Behalf of Ottoman Government Fails.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 26.—The mission to London of Ibrahim Hakki Pasha on behalf of the Ottoman government has failed. His object was to persuade the European powers to support the claim of Turkey to the retention of Adrianople. He was, however, unable to prevail upon the ambassador of the powers to accept the Porte's reply to the European note as a basis for fresh negotiations for peace and contrary to rumors which have been current in Europe, he had no authority to go beyond the proposals contained in Turkey's response.

The ambassador replied verbally to Ibrahim Hakki Pasha in the sense indicated, but left the door open for fresh proposals from Turkey, as they did not insist on the compliance of the Porte with the terms of the original note presented at Constantinople by the representatives of the powers.

Although some members of the Turkish cabinet are in favor of peace the war element shows no tendency to weaken its attitude. Military operations are still confined to skirmishes at various points along the front, and fighting on a grand scale is impossible for the present, owing to the weather.

FOUR CABINET PLACES FIXED.

Bryan, McAdoo, Burleson and Daniels Said to be Beyond Conjecture.

Other Positions Reasonably Settled Except War and Agriculture Portfolios.

It is stated positively in high Congressional quarters, closely identified with the incoming administration of President Wilson, that the following cabinet appointments have been definitely determined upon:

Secretary of State—William J. Bryan of Nebraska.

Secretary of the Treasurer—William G. McAdoo of New York.

Postmaster General—Albert S. Burleson of Texas.

Secretary of the Navy—Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.

These names and positions are said to have advanced entirely beyond the stage of conjecture or gossip, and become finalities in the forthcoming cabinet list. Other places in the cabinet are said to be reasonably settled, with the exception of the portfolio of War and Agriculture.

The name of Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, which has been prominently mentioned in connection with the Attorney Generalship, is now definitely eliminated. It appears that a cabinet position was tendered to Mr. Palmer and declined, the expectation being that he would remain in the House of Representatives, to be in a sense the personal representative of Mr. Wilson in the important legislation about to be formulated. This plan was carried into partial execution Tuesday, when the announcement of Representative Burleson that he would resign the position of chairman of the Democratic caucus at an early day was coupled with the announcement by House leaders that Mr. Palmer would succeed as chairman of the caucus.

Mr. McAdoo in the recent campaign was a prominent figure, and was in charge of the Democratic forces much of the time during the illness of National Chairman McCombs. He has been associated with some of the foremost business operations in American history, including the building of the so-called McAdoo tunnels under the Hudson river, New York.

Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, N. C., has long been Democratic national committeeman from his state. He is the editor of the Raleigh News and Observer. In the last Cleveland administration Mr. Daniels was in Washington as chief clerk and appointment clerk of the Interior Department under Secretary Hoke Smith, now Senator from Georgia.

Representative Burleson of Austin, Tex., has served nearly 16 years in Congress, having been first elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress, and was re-elected to the Sixty-third Congress last fall. He was one of the staunch supporters of Governor Wilson in the House of Representatives from the beginning of the pre-convention contest last spring and took a prominent part in the election campaign. In Congress his chief work has been as a member of the appropriations committee.

Cranberry and Raisin Pie.

Mix one cupful sugar, one cupful of chopped cranberries, one-half cupful chopped raisins, one-half cupful water, one tablespoonful flour and a little vanilla together, bake between two crusts and you will have a rich pie.

Clear Tomato Soup.

Put over the fire one can tomatoes, a half-pint of water, one small onion, cut fine, a sprig of parsley, a scant teaspoonful salt, a dozen peppercorns. Simmer together until the tomato is very soft, then press through a sieve and return to the fire. Blend one tablespoonful cornstarch with a little cold water, and to the soup when boiling and stir until smoothly thickened and clear. Taste to see that the seasoning is sufficient, then draw to one side and simmer for 10 minutes. Cut two crustless slices of stale bread in half-inch dice and saute in a little butter until golden brown. These may be prepared in advance, then heated in the oven when needed. Serve with the soup.

ALL FAVORABLY DISPOSED.

Almost Everybody Wants to See Wilson Make Good as President.

[Life.]

Almost everybody in the country wants Mr. Wilson to make good as President. There may be a little handful of citizens of New Jersey to whom a chance to say "I told you so" would be consoling, even at the cost of some damage to the country. But they are few and not important. The three great political bodies in the country—the Republicans, Progressives and Democrats—are all favorably disposed to Mr. Wilson and feel that they had a hand in electing him, and want to see him make a good President.

And Mr. Wilson wants to do a great deal more than just rub along in a great office and get no discredit. He really wants to better the conditions of human life. He wants to put people who need more money in the way of getting it, and people who need more knowledge in the way of getting it. He wants to break down unnatural barriers that fence off opportunity. Where the great economic machinery of the country is working unfairly or imperfectly, he wants to readjust it. When the trusts are hurtful he wants to break them up; when the tariff is hurtful he wants to revise it; where our money system is bad he wants it bettered; where our agriculture is stupid and keeps the farmers poor, he wants to let intelligence into it. Mr Wilson wants to bring the best obtainable intelligence to the solution of the problems of government and life in this country. That is what he is there for. He not only wants these things, but there are signs that he wants them with power, with insight and with courage.

PERSONALS.

....Dr. R. E. Smith, editor of the Century Dictionary and editor-in-chief of other literary works, is dead at his home in New Rochelle, aged 56 years. He was formerly an instructor in mathematics at Yale University and professor of philosophy and metaphysics at Johns Hopkins University.

....The Grover Cleveland Birthplace Memorial Association has been incorporated. Its purpose is "to honor and perpetuate the memory of Grover Cleveland, the twenty-second President of the United States, and thereby foster the spirit of patriotism in the United States." The association has raised $16,000 to purchase from the First Presbyterian Church at Caldwell, N. J., the "old manse" where President Cleveland was born, and efforts will be made to raise by popular subscription $25,000 for the care of the memorial.

....M. Dalen, the Swiss engineer who was awarded the Nobel prize in physics in December at the same time that Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute of New York received the prize for medicine, although now totally blind, is able to resume work. M. Dalen, who was at the head of the Stockholm Gas Company, was the only absentee when the Nobel prizes were distributed. He had been incapacitated owing to an explosion of acetylene gas while he was experimenting. One of his eyes was destroyed, while the cornea of the other was so damaged that he was barely able to distinguish light and darkness. It was stated at the time that Dr. Carrel, his fellow prize winner was considering the possibility of transplanting the cornea of some animal in place of the injured human cornea. This operation has been performed a number of times and has sometimes been successful. M. Dalen gave his workmen an extra week's wages as a thank offering for his escape from death. Dr. Carrel has since explained that it was impossible to operate on M. Dalen.

My kidneys caused me no end of trouble and I had severe pains through my loins. The kidney secretions contained sediment and were irregular in passage. I was restless at night and felt tired and languid upon arising in the morning. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a supply at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and they restored me to good health."

WHAT THE KETTLE SINGS.

[Margaret Vandegrift, in St. Nicholas.]

I love to hear the kettle sing
In winter when the wind is blowing,
It somehow makes me think of spring,
Though it is snowing.

A little sort of chirp comes first,
And then a gentle drowsy humming,
That seems to say, "We're through the worst!
Yes, spring is coming!"

I know quite well, outside the room,
What isn't snowy must be icy,
And yet I dream of fruit and bloom
In islands spicy,—

And little running, laughing streams,
And dear green woods, with vines and mosses,
And sunny places full of gleams,
When the wind tosses.

The leafy branches all about
Make just another sort of singing;
And little flurry things come out,
Leaping and springing.

And always, when I get to this,
And feel a sort of pleasant creepy,
My Mother wakes me with a kiss,
And "Oh, how sleepy!"

OCCIDENT FLOUR.

Occident Flour costs a little more than other flours. It is made for those people who care enough about bread to notice the difference in different kinds.

The price of Occident Flour is at all times sufficiently high to permit—

—The exclusive use of the choicest selected Northern spring wheat.

—The maintenance of the finest, cleanest, most sanitary and most modern mills in the world.

—The employment of the most extensive purifying processes ever used in flour milling, including the thorough washing of every kernel of wheat before grinding.

—The employment of the most skillful and painstaking millers to maintain the many complicated processes at highest efficiency.

THE OCCIDENT GUARANTEE.

We guarantee the quality not only good, but enough better than other flours to be immediately noticeable,—that you can make bread from it, that in purity, whiteness, rich flavor, fine even texture and general goodness is better than the bread you can make from any other flour.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1913.

EXCLUSIVE ASSOCIATED PRESS SERVICE FOR NEWPORT.

THE NEWS IN PROVIDENCE.

The Daily News is on sale in Providence the evening of publication at Union Station.

THE NEED OF A CONSERVATIVE PARTY.

The three leading agitators of the country are working the printing press as hard as they can. Temporarily Roosevelt is out of politics and is busy contributing an autobiography to the Outlook. Bryan continues to keep the excitement of his admirers at a white heat through the columns of the Commoner. La Follette has already published his autobiography through a magazine, and is now engaged in convincing the radicals through La Follette's Weekly that he is the only real radical in the country; all others are imitations.

In his Weekly for February 15 the Wisconsin Senator demands greater facilities for amending the constitution. The ratification of the income tax amendment does not placate him. He says the people have been demanding that for more than two generations, which of course is rank nonsense. The amendment authorizing the popular election of Senators has not been ratified yet and La Follette is indignant at the delay. "Count the years that have passed since first the people began demanding a change in the constitution that would allow them to elect their United States Senators directly." Well, how many years is it? And are we to have the constitution changed the moment somebody begins to demand a change? What evidence have we that "the people" have been demanding it?

He denounces the constitution as "a code of fetters and manacles," and insists that his amendment which will make it easy to amend the document at any time is the only way of preserving peace in the country. "This is the only insurance against violent revolution." The people will change our institutions peacefully if they can, but they will change them."

There are conservative and radical Republicans and conservative and radical Democrats. The two parties are not clearly differentiated on any issue, not even on the tariff. There is a pressing demand for the union of all the rational, sane, conservative elements in the country against the cranks, demagogues, incendiaries and lunatics. For the leader of the latter both Roosevelt and Bryan should retire in the interest of La Follette, but three years from now we should have some man who can rally the rational sentiment of the country—assuming that there is any.

MUNICIPALLY SUPPLIED UTILITIES.

Not long ago the mayor of a Western city said everything furnished by franchised corporations is too high. That opinion prevails in many places, where the cost of water, gas, electricity and other modern facilities supplied by corporations is large and seems to be greater than if these commodities were furnished by the cities themselves. To a considerable extent it is probable that this belief is well founded and that it would be possible for municipalities to supply necessities of this kind at a lower price than is charged by the private corporations. This indeed has been found to be true in many communities where the experiment has been tried, but the difficulty has been in not a few cases to keep municipal enterprises of this sort on a strictly business basis and not mixed with politics and friendships to such an extent as to bring the city into a condition where graft, favoritism and other evils of a kindred character have sway.

This brings forward the old question as to how far a city should go in supplying public utilities. This is a matter which each must settle for itself, as the answer depends upon the way the departments are managed and the success attained in keeping them out of politics. If this can be done there is practically no question that any municipality can furnish public utilities more cheaply than a franchised corporation. If it cannot be done the last condition will be worse than the first, for politics in city government is expensive and graft costly in more ways than financial. Whether it is advisable for a city to engage in supplying public utilities, therefore, depends so largely upon local conditions that it is not wise to give a hard and fast rule or make a general statement concerning the matter.

PUBLIC OPINION THE REMEDY.

It is the belief of those who have made a study of municipal government that there is a double cause for poor or bad administration, indifference on the part of many and excessive political partisanship on the part of others. That these two conditions work together admirably for those who desire to further their own selfish ends and have no real care for the interests of the people is evident. That under the manipulation of those who manage the affairs of cities where these conditions prevail they can always be made to serve the aims and ambitions of those who make the public service a private trust is also plain to all who take the trouble to look even casually into the situation. Civic indifference on the part of the large body of the people and partisan activity on the part of others are beyond dispute the chief contributing causes of evil administration wherever such a combination is found.

The great need of city, state and nation is an enlightened public opinion, which will make it impossible for men to hold office anywhere who are not men of honor, integrity and fidelity to duty. This would prove effective against any such combination as has been indicated, for nothing can stand against public opinion when expressed in a militant manner. What is the only thing which those who work the combination of indifference of the majority with the partisanship of the few fear, and it is about the only thing which can defeat them in their efforts to make municipal administration serve their own ends rather than the interests of the people. An enlightened public opinion is difficult to arouse and maintain. Sometimes it is created by unusual conditions, but it seldom remains awake very long, but soon lapses into its prevailing dormant condition. This is only another way of putting the fact already stated, that indifference on the part of the great body of the people gives the opportunity to those who are active partisans to work the government and make it poor or positively bad. The remedy is plain, but not easy to apply.

THE VALUE OF CIVIC PRIDE.

The development and fostering of civic pride is recognized as one of the most important advances needed in most communities in this country. That this feeling can be created and increased by judicious methods has been shown in many places and that it is not done in others is the fault of the local government of the people. There is too much inclination in the average American city to find fault unduly and even unjustly with those who have been chosen to perform the official duties. There should be no hesitation anywhere to offer criticism of officials who are not diligent and faithful in the discharge of their obligations, but on the other hand there should always be strong support of those who are faithful and do their best for the highest interests of the place. Lack of civic pride is often responsible for criticism which is not deserved and the result is a failure to secure from officials the right kind of administration. All men need support in the performance of duties of a public nature and without it the city which employs them is bound to suffer.

Civic pride will be found the best means of making a city successful and progressive. The citizens should band together for the improvement and development of the place. There should be constructive instead of destructive criticism of officials, and every possible assistance should be given in the discharge of public duties. Civic pride would thus not only secure more efficient service but would also tend to the advancement of the community. There would be watchfulness on the part of the people for means of increasing the facilities for carrying on business and enlarging the civic beauty of the place. It would be surprising in many communities to learn how much could be done if this course were pursued, instead of that of decrying everything done and denouncing all the officials. The creation and development of civic pride ought to engage the attention of the people of every city and town in the country.

The Department of Justice is announced to have dismissed the indictments against officials of the Standard Oil Company and allied organizations, in Texas, and against the Chicago packers, for violations of the Sherman anti-trust law, because the Attorney General was satisfied that he did not have sufficient evidence to convict. It is of course useless to press indictments if there is not enough evidence to support them, but in that case why were they brought? This action does not, it is said, interfere with the investigation of the Department of Justice to determine whether the Standard Oil Company's former subsidiaries have violated the decree of dissolution. This inquiry is nation-wide and embraces the situation in Texas.

It is figured by some who think they know something about the fire department that a new combination pump, chemical and hose can be purchased and at least half its cost saved the first year by introducing modern ideas. The saving will also increase the efficiency of the department. The figures can be had if the Representative Council desires them, and in the face of such a claim it does not seem as if that body would accept the report of the sub-committee on fire department, which was the result of a single short session.

Theodore Roosevelt's endorsement, in behalf of the Progressives, of the proposed fusion against Tammany Hall in the municipal election in New York, ensures a complete combination of all the Anti-Tammany forces and dispels the fear that his desire to run the machine alone might make this impossible. Now it remains only for the various elements to unite on a good list of candidates and keep together until they are elected.

Are the English people beginning to awake to a realizing sense of the crimes which the suffragettes are committing for the sake of their cause? In any event, a crowd in London is reported to have vigorously "booed" Mrs. Pankhurst, a pretty strong expression of feeling.

Congress is nearing the end of the session and business is beginning to move quickly. The Senate passed three general supply bills, with an aggregate of $476,000,000 in appropriations, in rapid succession. A million a minute was the record for the day.

Congressman O'Shaunessy believes in keeping the House acquainted with the advantages of Narragansett bay as a great naval base. It is a good cause.

IN THE MARCH MAGAZINES.

Joseph Pennell's new series of lithographs will begin in the March Century with six views of the Capitol at Washington. Last year Mr. Pennell was commissioned by that magazine to go to Panama and illustrate the progress of work on the canal in a manner which would give a clearer idea of the magnitude of the task than previous illustrations had done. The Century was the first to reproduce his pictures, of which it selected eight. They caused much comment at the time. Canal pictures from Mr. Pennell's collection not selected by the Century have since been used in newspapers, and recently several were bought by the Italian government. So striking was Mr. Pennell's success in the canal pictures that the Century again commissioned him to draw the series now beginning. In addition to the Capitol at Washington, he will draw for forthcoming issues scenes in Philadelphia, San Francisco, the Yosemite and the Grand Canon.

The complete novelette in the March Lippincott's is by Edgar Jepson, whose "Pollyooly and the Lamp" proved so popular. It is entitled "The Changeable Professor," and in it are adroitly commingled farce and melodrama, as in one of the big theatrical successes of the present season. The Professor is a scientist whose arduous labors have injured his health, apparently beyond repair. He discovers a strange cure for his malady, and lives to confound his brother scientists and to win the girl he loves.

MICHIGAN FARM LANDS.

[Leslie's.]

The area of Michigan is 57,430 square miles; the population may be reasonably placed at three millions at the present time. In the upper peninsula, where there are 16,608 square miles and less than a thousand square miles devoted to agriculture, the soil survey made by the state and the United States government in conjunction gave evidence that 75 per cent of the soil of the upper peninsular is good for agriculture. Farm lands there may be purchased for from $10 an acre upward.

The great fruit region, bordering the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, comprises western Michigan as far north as the straits, and fortunes are being made there in fruit culture. Experts believe the south shore of Lake Superior, which bounds the northern part of the upper peninsula, is especially suitable for fruit raising. The great advantage to those who produce anything in Michigan is the proximity of the markets.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

The second lecture, on "Yellow Stone Park" given at the Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday evening by Rev. E. C. Pollard, proved as interesting as that on the Mammoth Cave Monday. The pictures were especially attractive, having been done in the natural colors. An artist at Colorado Springs had been working four months to complete the 21 shown and is still at work on others.

Rev. Mr. Pollard gave as a preliminary to his talk a brief account of the first knowledge of this marvelous park. Of the 40 prominent geysers pictures were shown of "Old Faithful," which plays regularly every 55 minutes; "The Punch Bowl Geyser," "Morning Glory," "Crater Oblong" (plays every 11 days), "The Butterfly," "The Biscuit," "The Giant," "Uncle Sam's Paint Pots," and "The Chinaman's Geyser," and "Catch and Cook Your Fish Geyser" (which Rev. Mr. Pollard proved was true). The minerals in some of the waters cause an accumulation of sediment of various colors about the geysers, which was well depicted in the pictures. A number of the cascades and rapids were shown, views of the river, the "Golden Gate and Viaduct," Mammoth Hot Springs and the Canyon.

Rev. Mr. Pollard proved an entertaining lecturer, not only working in many a laugh but putting in many forceful religious wedges which are helpful and convincing. He was guest Monday and Tuesday of Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Wells at the Methodist parsonage, and visited Tuesday the Wyatt school, where he spoke briefly to the children.

The address was preceded by a piano selection by Miss Sadie I. Peckham. The two lectures were given under the auspices of the Epworth League, the proceeds being divided between the speaker and the League.

Owing to illness among the members, there was no meeting today of the Paradise Club, the officers meeting instead with those of the Oliphant club at the home of Mrs. William Clarence Peckham, the vice president, to complete plans for a novel Indian entertainment to be given in March.

Mr. Wallace Hatch, secretary of the Rhode Island Anti-Tuberculosis Association, has offered to demonstrate before the school committee of Portsmouth and Middletown that by carrying out some of the practical suggestions contained in his talks and lectures given here in the early part of the month the school committee can better care for the health and education of the children, and at the same time effect economies. The state association has recently distributed among these local associations the proper proportion of the available funds for the local work in order that the work may be carried on more actively.

The death at an early hour this morning of Miss Susan Gould Chase, at the home of her brother, Daniel Chase, on Oliphant road, was not unexpected, as she had been ill for two years past. Miss Chase was the second of the four children of Daniel and Martha (White) Chase and was born at the Scott farm, near Chaseville, in 1840. Her entire life had been spent in Middletown. She had been a great sufferer and for the past year was unable to lie down, her trouble being dropsy. She is survived by two brothers, Charles and Daniel Chase, both of Middletown.

A party of six members of the Oliphant Club, including the secretary, Mrs. William H. Sisson, and the director, Mrs. John M. Coggeshall, attended the pure food fair and domestic science exposition in Providence Tuesday.

"A NIGHT IN HAWAII."

Alasky's Serenaders Lead the Colonial All-Feature Bill.

An all-feature show will be the attraction at the Colonial, headed by Alasky's Seven Hawaiian Serenaders in a musical festival entitled "A Night in Hawaii." This act has just closed a successful engagement in New York at the Fifth Avenue. Joseph Kealuha, who plays the ukulele, will be remembered as a favorite at the Colonial several months ago with a quartet of musicians, receiving many encores for his work. The offering is staged with a tropical setting and features will present "Alma," clever character artist, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Calder and company in the comedy playlet entitled "A Financial Mistake."

The picture program will feature the Latest Vitagraph special two-reel production, entitled "Chains of an Oath," an elaborate drama with a Russian background. Others are the latest Pathe Weekly, which will present the arrival in New York of the famous beauty, Mlle. Lina Cavalieri with Lucien Muratore, the tenor; also, the automobile racing in New Jersey, the Mardi Gras parade in New Orleans, both of great brilliancy and filled with scenes surpassing in gorgeousness anything heretofore attempted, and the ice carnival being held on the ice in Minneapolis. Max Linder will play the comedy role in the laugh-provoking production entitled "Love unconquerable."

Director Ward is arranging another of his popular musical programs, which have become a well established feature.

DEATH OF EDWARD V. FLUDDER.

Mr. Edward Vose Fludder, who died today at the Newport Hospital, was the last of the children of the late William Fludder, who for many years was one of the leading contracting masons of the city, his sons continuing the business. He was one of a family of seven children, including William A. Alexander, George M. and James Fludder, Sarah J., wife of George H. Vaughan, and Rebecca J., wife of David Braman. His brother, George M. Fludder, died in July of last year. Edward V. Fludder was engaged in the mason business for many years with his father and brothers, being foreman of construction work. He was unmarried.

ICE AGAIN FORMING.

Again Tuesday night the temperature went well down, to 16, or two degrees less cold than Monday. This time the ice skimped the ponds, which were well covered with a thin coating this morning. There are still some pieces of old ice sloped the ponds, which were well roped in to some cutting today at one of these places. The new ice will be ready for skaters in about two more days, if it only continues as cold nights as it has been. For the present it is safe only for birds to skate over.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

William Loftus has rented for Oscar Lofblad his store no. 29 Franklin street to T. N. Hodson.

—Mr. Charles Ritt and his daughter, who have been on a visit to Germany, have arrived home.

—Barge 809 of the Lehigh Valley line is discharging a cargo of coal for the Pinniger & Manchester Company.

—The season for dog licenses approaches, a sure sign that summer is coming. Also, steamer Leander Wilcox is in with a cargo of fertilizer, another sign that spring is nigh.

—Watchers to the northward report that there was a fire on Hog Island this noon. Apparently it was a grass and brush fire, but it made a big showing over the bay.

—City Solicitor J. A. Sullivan will deliver the address on Robert Emmet before the United Irish Societies at the meeting next Tuesday evening, Robert Emmet day, in Hibernian hall.

—The grip has relaxed its clutches on Officers Corgeshall and Scott and they reported for duty Tuesday night. Officer Loughlin has taken their place on the retired on account of cold list.

—Mr. Adolph S. Franco, some years assistant gardener at Mr. August Belmont's estate, "Bythesea," has been promoted head gardener at Mr. Belmont's estate at Hempstead, Long Island, succeeding the late Mr. H. Gilmore.

—A hand rail, similar to that on the front steps of the City Hall, has been placed on the entrance steps to the Rogers High School, where it will undoubtedly be found of service, as the steps and the narrow treads make the steps at times quite dangerous.

—The Moose will go to Fall River this evening on special cars at 7 o'clock, to attend the initiation in that city. It is expected that fully 60 will be in the party. This will be the second expedition to sister lodges, one having gone to New Bedford last week.

—Joe Gordon, champion light-weight wrestler attached to the Naval Training Station, who has been seen in several interesting bouts in this city, has arranged for another match with "Cauce" Connors of New Bedford, in Odd Fellows' hall Friday evening, March 7.

—The fishermen were obliged to work some Tuesday because of the cold, the spray freezing as fast as it fell. Today they are all out again, Tom Thomas B. Congdon was the first to come in today, with $80 pounds. Her gear had been set since Monday.

—There was a preliminary meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Progressive Club rooms, to talk over a new ice company. Apparently little but talk prevailed, as the men who would naturally be interested in such a venture, if one is made, were indifferent to this meeting.

—District Deputy McGowan and a number of local Elks will leave this afternoon, accompanied by the Mandolin and Guitar Club, for a visit to the Westerly lodge, where a grand reception has been arranged. Thursday evening the Providence and Pawtucket lodges will visit the Newport lodge, coming on a special train about 8 o'clock.

—Steamer City of Lowell left this afternoon for Stonington, where she will be laid up temporarily. A number of men arrived on the General at 1 o'clock to assist in taking her there. While she was at the repair shops her life saving equipment has been changed, all life rafts being taken off and new and bigger boats with patent davit gear substituted; also, other repairs were made. The lifeboat department of the shops will now give attention to the Richard Peck.

—Another large congregation gathered at the First Baptist Church Tuesday evening to hear Evangelist Adam Barr, who spoke on the subject of "Christian Assurance." He gave many incidents to show how habits which have seemed invincible against the power of a man's will have been broken when Christ is trusted. His illustrations, mostly from his own experience, were humorous and at the same time full of pathos. Mrs. Manuel, the soprano of the church choir, sang a solo.

FIRE AT JAMESTOWN.

Head-House of Old Enterprise Line of Steamers Burned.

Contents, Including New Launch, Fertilizer and Stored Material, Destroyed.

Jamestown had a fire this morning which destroyed the headhouse on the new dock, erected for the Enterprise line when New York steamers stopped at the island. The head-house was a good-sized structure and being used as a storage place for the ferry company contained a large amount of surplus material, including a quantity of life preservers. One of the losses was the new launch which Mr. George W. Gardiner has been building there the past winter, and which would have been completed in another week. There was also in the shed about three tons of fertilizer for Edward O. Littlefield.

Mr. Gardiner went down the wharf and built a fire in the stove as usual this morning, and then went up the wharf again to attend to some other affairs while the place was warming up. About 7:50, as steamer Beavertail was entering her slip and a lumber lighter was putting in on the other side of the wharf, smoke was seen issuing from the shed. An alarm was turned in, but while the apparatus was on the scene in good time the fire spread rapidly, aided by the shavings, general stores and paints in the structure, and there was a roaring furnace for the firemen to attack.

The steam fire engine was located on the dock and pumped through two lines, while the hydrant streams were also available and with this battery the firemen extinguished the blaze. A bit of the north section of the structure is all that remains, for it was only there that the firemen could bring their streams to bear until they had quelled somewhat the fury of the flames, the free room around the sides of the building being little or nothing. They advanced steadily with their streams and were able to conquer the fire before it had done great damage to the wharf proper, only the planking being charred and some of this not so badly as one might expect.

Mr. Gardiner had put about $800 into the launch, and his insurance will not make the loss good. The ferry company is also partially protected by insurance.

The building, 30 by 100 feet, was a complete ruin in 20 minutes from the time the alarm was rung. One of the Dowling boys was the first to make the discovery ashore, and at that time the flames were shooting from the north end of the building. The firemen were hampered in reaching the scene with their hose, because the pier was cluttered with electric light poles and lumber and it was necessary to haul the hose over these. The department had out 2,350 feet of hose and one line was 1,300 feet long. The steamer made such a quick response that she did not have time to get steam up on the way, and while working developed a leak in her boiler.

In addition to the loss already mentioned there was a 20-speed boat, the property of Howard Yara. Mr. Gardiner had insurance amounting to $500 on his launch, but there were in addition his tools.

STRIPPED FOR ACTION.

Man, Probably Demented, Jumps from Window Without Clothing.

There was some police business this morning, or last night; the last watch had been on for an hour when the trouble reached the station. There was a man rooming in the Cappuccini building on Spring street, just below Franklin, and some time after 2 o'clock he had an idea that it was time for action. Once it was considered proper to strip for action, so when he went into action he was stripped; that is, he wore no clothing. He jumped out of a window to the roof of an adjacent and lower building.

Two men passing saw the performance and called assistance. Officers Boreson and C. A. Wilcox came to the aid of the two discoverers, and between them they took the man down and put him into the patrol wagon. Dr. Keenan had been summoned and rendered what aid was necessary. Then he was sent to the hospital and an officer to look after him, and one is still on duty there. It looked like a case of dementia.

It was no summer night to be about, with nothing in the way of raiment to keep off the cold, and it is possible that a cold was caught, despite the very latest medical explanations of a cold and what it means. A good way to catch a cold was taken by this man; also, he took a good chance of dying, but he probably did not know that it was fortunate that the two happened along just when they did.

"NO RACE" BUT MISS KEARNS AHEAD.

An interesting race took place at the skating rink Tuesday evening, the contestants being Misses Angelo Kearns, Thora Christensen and Margaret Shea. It was for one mile and Miss Shea dropped out at the end of the sixth lap, having found the pace too fast. Miss Kearns and Miss Christensen continued to the end, making a close contest, the former pulling out ahead by a few feet. Owing to a double foul, however, the judges declared "No race" and no prizes were awarded.

Another Country Store skate party, one of the most popular special features of the season, has been arranged for Thursday evening.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Miss Marian de F. Cannon to Marry John Dyneley Prince, Jr.

The engagement is announced in New York of Miss Marian deF. Cannon to Mr. John Dyneley Prince, Jr. Miss Cannon, who is in her twentieth year, is the younger of the daughters of Mrs. Theodore Frelinghuysen. She and her sister and brother, Miss Elizabeth Adelaide and Mr. Le Grand B. Cannon, are the children of the late Harry Le Grand Cannon, whose death occurred in May, 1895. He was the son of the late Le Grand B. Cannon, one of the founders of the Union League Club, who left a large estate, most of which will come into the possession of his grandchildren. June 2, 1898, Mrs. Cannon was married to Mr. Frelinghuysen in Grace Church, Bishop Potter officiating, assisted by the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant. Mr. Frelinghuysen had been married previously, his first wife having been Miss Coats of Providence.

Mr. Prince is the son of Mr. John Dyneley Prince, professor of Semitic languages at Columbia University, and Mrs. Prince. While still identified with Columbia University Professor Prince was elected to the New Jersey legislature and served for a time as Speaker of the lower house. Mrs. Prince was Miss Adaline Loomis, daughter of the late Dr. Alfred Loomis. Professor Prince is a near relative of Mrs. James Speyer.

Mr. John Dyneley Prince, Jr., is a member of the Union and Tuxedo clubs. No date has been mentioned for the wedding, which, it is expected, will be delayed until after his graduation from Columbia. He is at present a Sophomore.

SHOULD BE PRESERVED.

Tammany Hill Has Historic Associations of Universal Character.

To the Editor of the Daily News.

Dear Sir: I have read with much interest, in the papers, of the proposal to buy Tammany hill, either as a playground or public park, and would like to say that it seems to me most fitting that this interesting spot should be preserved for the pleasure of present generations and those to come. From a historical point of view Tammany hill has associations of an unusual character.

When Coddington and his associates first landed in Newport with a view to the purchase of the island, they were met by the chief of the native tribe, Wannumetonomy by name, and it has always been the tradition that his seat and place of residence was on Tammany hill. This, as the only eminence of any consequence in the town, would naturally have been a most convenient place for the chieftain's dwelling, from which he could see if any enemy was approaching by water, and oversee the wigwams of his faithful subjects. The settlers called it Wannumetonomy hill, and so it is called to this day, only a little shortened and changed.

During the Revolution the hill was fortified by both patriots and British, and it would seem a thousand pities that a place of such unusual historic interest should not be preserved intact. Its purchase by the town would insure this, and would, I am sure, afford gratification to all who as children have enjoyed this unusually charming spot, and who would like to feel that their children and grandchildren would do the same.

Newport, Feb. 26, 1913.

TODAY'S TWO FUNERALS.

The funeral of Mrs. Ann Maguire took place this morning at 8 o'clock from her residence on Water Works road, and later to St. Joseph's Church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul. Rev. Father O'Rourke was celebrant, Rev. Father Higney deacon, and Rev. Father Le Chanen of the Cenacle sub-deacon. The interment was in St. Columba's cemetery, the bearers being Messrs. Thomas Dowd, Dennis J. Leary, James Sullivan and Thomas McHugh.

The funeral of Mrs. Katherine, widow of Gottlieb Spingler, was held this afternoon from her residence on Franklin street, being conducted by Rev. Stanley C. Hughes, rector of Trinity church. Many of the older German residents of the city attended. Numerous handsome floral pieces were placed upon the grave. The following served as bearers: W. P. Hayman, H. E. Nason, John O'Connor and Albert P. Palquette.

This Store is Headquarters for the Famous
Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets.

An Expert Corsetiere in attendance.

Fittings will be given to all who desire.

THE FASHIONABLE WOMAN used to count her complexion first and her figure second in her armament of charms.

BUT TODAY she has learned to think deeper, and place her corset first and foremost—since on it depends so vitally both complexion and figure.

Warner's Rust-Proof Is the magic name by which many conjure the style and beauty of line needed to set off the gowns of the day, and give the poise, elegance and grace to wear them with charm.

No figure of any type, stout or slender, that the right Warner model will not beautify. And they're most economical as well as fashionably shaped and long-wearing.

Before Visiting Your Dressmaker, Visit us---for a Warner Corset.

There can be no grace or charm of dress without, first and foremost, comfort. Given that, found and preserved in a perfect-fitting, perfectly adapted corset that brings out and enhances every beauty point of her figure, and the charm of the outer garments follows of itself.

When we say that the New Warner models in our Corset Salon are more stylish than ever before, we mean simply that they have been designed so exactly line for line with fashion's decrees, that by wearing a Warner Corset you are preparing yourself to wear with elegance, any fashionable gown or suit of the season.

Prices $1.00 to $3.00.

LOCAL OPTION FAILS.

Measure Defeated at Fourth Successive Session in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 26.—Local option has failed again in the fourth successive legislative session in which it has been made an issue in this state. The bill providing for units of counties and of municipalities of 10,000 population was defeated yesterday 121 to 82, a gain for the local optionists of seven over the vote of 1911. Members of the Anti-Saloon League declare that other anti-liquor bills will be introduced at the session of the legislature and that they will fight for the election of representatives in 1914 who will favor their cause.

ELIZABETH FLYNN RELEASED.

Union Leaders Say 6,000 Silk Workers in Paterson Are Out.

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 26.—Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, organizer for the Industrial Workers of the World, arrested yesterday, charged with inciting riot among striking silk mill operatives gave bail and was released from jail today. She left town at once. Her companion, Carlo Prstea, is still a prisoner.

Union leaders insisted today that approximately 6,000 of the 15,000 silk workers in this city are out. The employers place the number at 3,500. Mills were under guard today and no disorder had been reported. The strikers demand higher pay and the abolition of certain machinery.

DAMAGE LESS THAN EXPECTED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Admiral Cowles, commandant of the Pearl Harbor naval station at Hawaii, advised the Navy Department today that examinations just completed show that the bottom of the two sections of the great naval dry dock adjoining the section which collapsed last week had not risen, as was feared. This indicates that the damage to the dock, though extensive, is much less than was supposed. The Navy Department is anxious to have the dock ready as soon as possible after the opening of the Panama canal, as the Puget Sound dock will be the only one available for naval vessels on the Pacific coast, a serious situation if the Atlantic fleet is sent through the canal.

INTERVENTION OPPOSED.

Foreign Relations Committee Discusses Probable Move in Mexican Affairs.

Difficult Foreign Complication Passes to Next Administration—A Real Temperance Lecture.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Prominent members of the foreign relations committee of the Senate have been discussing the probable intervention in Mexican affairs, and they do not take kindly to the prospect. They say that intervention will not be a popular move for any administration. Yet it would be almost impossible, it was said, to prevent intervention in case an attack was made upon American citizens. The administration which would hesitate to send an army to Mexico in that case would be severely criticised, it was asserted.

Within less than two weeks of a change of administration the situation is anything but pleasant to contemplate. If intervention can be avoided until after Mr. Wilson becomes President it may be possible to still further postpone, if not prevent, such a move. No doubt that every influence Mr. Bryan can bring to bear will be against intervention. Without any intention of so doing the present administration passes on to its successor a very difficult foreign complication.

It is plain that most of the opposition to Madero was from the adherents of the old Diaz regime. This can be ascertained by talking with the friends of the old dictator, many of whom are now in Washington and some of whom are found in Congress. One of those prominent in public life asserts that Madero's mind is not right and that he would have been in no condition to rule the country even if he had not been ousted. The substitution of General Victoriano Huerta temporarily in his place, it is thought, may not have helped the solution much.

Congressman Mondell of Wyoming was trying to get an appropriation attached to a bill providing $200,000 for the destruction of predatory wild animals on national reserves and game preserves. Congressman Reddenbery of Georgia, remembering Mondell's several days' attack upon the river and harbor bill, said:

"From the gentleman's statement it is evident there is nothing for the government to appropriate for in Wyoming except predatory wild animals, national forests, sheep, army posts and reservations, public buildings and the salaries of able statesmen."

As Mondell and his able Wyoming Senators have secured something like $25,000,000 for the things enumerated, the shot of Reddenbery created considerable amusement in the House.

It was during the discussion of the anti-liquor bill that a number of members expressed their adherence to the general principles of liquor reform, but doubted the constitutionality of the rights of the government or something of that sort; anyway there was some reason they could not support it.

"I rise to express my sympathy," said Congressman Sims of Tennessee when he addressed the House, "for those great constitutional lawyers who wear the constitution as a hobble skirt and fall down every time they try to go forward and fall down every time they try to go to the right or left, who can only stand where they are until they shrivel up or turn to a pillar of salt, like Lot's wife."

Sherley of Kentucky and Henry of Texas were having a little skirmish. "Since I heard the gentleman from Kentucky," said Henry, "I do not know that I ought to let my assertion stand, because I infer that Mr. Sherley is a great lawyer and will admit it himself upon the slightest provocation."

Few speeches on the Kenyon liquor bill will be more quoted than that of Senator Webb of Tennessee, who is serving a short term from his state. He told how General Lee made the army a temperance organization and thereby strengthened it. He told about the boys he had known who had become great men, while those who had become liquor drinkers, though bright and intelligent, had fallen by the wayside.

"I have spent more than 50 years in a boarding school for boys," said this man, who did not look that old as he was speaking, and then he told about some of the men who had gone from his school. The brilliant Senator Carmack was one of his pupils.

Lloyd of Missouri had control of the time on a proposition in the House, and Fitzgerald wanted time to ask Pujo of investigation fame a few questions. Lloyd yielded time to Pujo. "The gentleman from Louisiana," said Speaker Clark, "is recognized for 10 minutes in order to give Mr. Fitzgerald an opportunity to catechise him."

CHILD'S BODY BROKE OUT IN TOOTH RASH

From Waist to Feet Covered with Large Blisters. Suffered Dreadfully. Could Not Sleep. In Two Weeks Completely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

R. F. D., Box 92, Thornton, R. I.—"When my little girl was two months old she had erythema or tooth rash. The lower part of her body broke out in a rash which started in the form of small pimples. In a day or so the pimples formed a white head which broke causing a watery discharge to run from it. In a week the baby's body from her waist to her feet looked as if it had been burned, being covered with large blisters which broke open leaving the flesh exposed and causing the child intense suffering. I had an ointment to use on her every two hours. It did not do her any good, in fact she seemed to get worse and she suffered dreadfully. Someone told me they had never seen such a bad case on any child. She could not sleep and cried continually. She continued to suffer for five weeks the blisters spreading all the time. Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I bathed her in warm water with plenty of Cuticura Soap and covered the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment. The next morning we were surprised at the improvement in her and in two weeks she was completely cured. I have used nothing but Cuticura Soap on my youngest child since its birth." (Signed) Mrs. Sara Richmond, Jan. 11, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. A single set is often sufficient. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

SITUATION IN MEXICO APPEARS UNCHANGED.

Huerta's Appointments in States Indicate Firm Rule.

Madero's Departure Causes Checking of Cash in Government Treasury.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26.—The situation in the federal capital has not undergone any change. Reports are being received from numbers of districts indicating that many of the rebel leaders and their followers are inclined to co-operate with the new administration. The appointment of prominent army men as governors of states is taken to indicate that Provisional President Huerta intends to rule with a firm hand.

No official confirmation has been received of the report of the death of Emilio Madero, brother of the late ex-President, who was said to have been shot by troops sent by General Trevino to the north of Monterey while attempting to join the rebels holding Nuevo Laredo.

The representatives of the foreign powers generally have notified their acceptance of the official version of the death of ex-President Francisco I. Madero and ex-Vice President Jose Pino Suarez, but the investigation instituted by the government continues.

The departure of Ernesto Madero, uncle of the late president and former minister of finance, has resulted in a check being made of the cash in the government treasury, which showed the existence of a balance of 392,000. This amount, however, does not represent the whole of the immediately available resources of the new administration as there are various deposits in both local and foreign banks which can be drawn on by the government.

TEST FOR THE NEW SYSTEM.

Concentration of Troops at Galveston to Continue.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—With prospect of armed opposition to the new provisional government in Mexico reduced to a few small threatened uprisings by followers of the late President Madero, it is the opinion of officials here that chances for the use of the military arms to protect American interests have greatly diminished.

The concentration of troops at Galveston will continue but, admittedly, the purpose is now principally to test the working of the new system of army re-organization. Major General Carter, commander of the Second division, due to arrive in Galveston within the next 24 hours, will take the opportunity afforded by the assembly of a complete division of troops to put them through their pace, this affording the various regimental and brigade commanders practically their first opportunity to direct the movements of the large bodies of men that would fall to their command in time of war.

If the complete division is assembled in Galveston at Texas City, about seven miles distant, and in the camp just opened near Houston, before the end of the present week, the military experts feel that they will have accomplished a creditable feat. It is true the movement appears to be very slow in comparison with the remarkable mobilization of the allied armies in the Balkans, but as a matter of fact such distances as that from Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., and Fort Snelling, Minn., to Galveston would have greatly taxed the resources of the best European quartermasters department.

On the whole, Secretary Stimson feels very proud of the record made up to this point when by the issue of a single order to Major General Carter, the Second division commander, the entire body of men was set in motion, whereas, under the old plan the adjutant general's department was obliged to send hundreds of telegrams to as many individual commanding officers, all the way from major generals down to captains, to begin the mobilization. Under the new system, too, the quartermaster general had assembled at the proper point of embarkation all the supplies needed for a campaign.

CANVASSING THE PLAYGROUNDS.

the specifications submitted. Later, after learning what the Beach Association proposes doing, the matter of rail and steps on the north side could be cared for, and a deduction could be made by the lowest bidder for any rail not put in.

The mayor asked if the board cared to take up the playgrounds and the board decided that it would be well to defer action. The mayor said he hoped the city could in some way secure "Tarmany Hill." He felt that this was an ideal place and the city should not lose the opportunity. Alderman Kirby said it is suitable for a park, but not for a recreation ground. The mayor said they had played base ball on the hill, and Alderman Ahern suggested that this was on Sunday. However, the board evidently felt as did the mayor that the hill would make an ideal park and if possible the city ought to secure it. The mayor thought that if any considerable sum were left after buying the playgrounds it might be used for purchase of the hill; probably public contributions would give the difference. Finally he was appointed a committee to confer with the Phelps family in regard to the purchase of this land for a park.

The petition from Mrs. Hardwick and others, asking that the street railway be extended through Coggeshall avenue was taken up. The mayor said that when he was in Boston he saw President Sullivan of the railroad and talked about this petition. President Sullivan said that after a superficial examination it had been decided that the extension to Harrison avenue was the best for the road. He was, however, to send an expert to this city to look into both routes, and on his report the company will make the application for an extension. It was evident that the petition was already being acted upon, and it was sent on to the Representative Council. It was stated that the petitioners desire the rails down as far as the engine house.

The city solicitor presented the following opinion on the powers of the chief engineer in regard to poles and wires, at the request of the Chief:

The Honorable, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen, City of Newport, Newport, R. I.

Gentlemen: In request for opinion as to the respective rights of the Board of Aldermen and the chief of the fire department in the matter of the location, reparation, etc., of poles, wires, etc., for telephone, telegraph, etc., in the streets of the city of Newport, I beg to submit the following opinion:

Chapter 53, section 1, expressly gives to the chief of the fire department the right to control, supervise and direct the erection of such poles, posts, etc., after permission of the City Council has been given for such erection. The reading of this section has probably heretofore caused conflict between different branches of the city government, and apparently to obviate any further question the Representative Council on February 15, 1907, passed an amendment to said ordinance. This amendment reads as follows:

"In so far as the provisions of this chapter are concerned, the chief engineer of the fire department shall be under the control of the Board of Aldermen and shall be at all times subject to the orders and directions of said board."

This amendment would seem to have the effect of giving to the Board of Aldermen absolute authority to direct and order the chief of the fire department to do such things as, in the judgment of the Board of Aldermen, are necessary and proper.

This amendment would seem, further, to have the effect of making more positive or at least reiterating that part of section 22 of the charter of the city of Newport which reads "they (the Board of Aldermen) shall form the several committees for the administration of the different departments of the city government," giving to the Board of Aldermen a general authority over all departments.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that it is within the province of the Board of Aldermen to exercise whatever authority they deem necessary in the matter of the location of poles, etc., and in the absence of orders issued the chief of the fire department may exercise that discretion and judgment in the routine and detail work that is ordinarily a part of the duties of heads of departments.

Respectfully submitted,
Jeremiah A. Sullivan,
City Solicitor.

The opinion was received without comment.

Alderman Hughes asked about his proposed ordinance to have the pay rolls made up the Wednesday night before the meeting of the Board. The mayor explained what he had done; it is still under consideration.

The committee on the widening of Broadway at the Congdon estate had not had a meeting; it was called to meet so as to report Thursday.

It looked as though the last business had been disposed of, but there was more. Mayor MacLeod brought up the ashes contract and the injunction procedure and said he had had a conference with the city solicitor on this matter. He had given an opinion that the matter which the court would probably consider most important was that the Council had made no provision for the continued payment after this year of the contract price for the ash collection. This could be remedied by having the Council at its meeting, next Monday pass an ordinance providing that a certain amount be set aside each year for the payment of the ashes contract until its expiration.

The city solicitor said the mayor had well expressed the idea in regard to this matter. The court may decide in favor of the city; in that case no action would be necessary. It might decide against the city in this respect, and then the city would be prepared, without calling another meeting of the Council, to go ahead and make the contract under the opinion of the court. It seemed desirable to have an opinion of the court on this matter, and it was well that it had been brought up. He felt that no time would really be lost if the action suggested were taken.

It was voted to have the city solicitor prepare an ordinance for the Council, making provision for the payment of the money each year the contract lasts and authorizing the Board to make a contract under these conditions.

The board adjourned.

MILITIA COMMAND MAY CHANGE.

Velasco Sends Reports Showing Sincerity to New Regime to Huerta.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Feb. 26.—Reports involving the sincerity of the expressions of loyalty to the new administration made by General Roberto Velasco, the military commander of Vera Cruz, have been sent to Provisional President Huerta and to General Felix Diaz. These are expected to result in a change being made in the military command here today.

It is anticipated that Colonel Jose Diaz Ordaz, who was an adherent of Felix Diaz at the time of his first revolt here, will be named as successor to General Velasco, who will be transferred to a post in the interior.

Noon—After several days of steadily falling prices the stock market rallied during the morning. The upturn appeared to be largely the result of short covering, coupled with some buying on long account by traders who held that the bear movement had been carried so far that a recovery was due. Favorable developments over night assisted in the advance. Attorney General Wickersham's opinion that the Harriman segregation plan would be adopted, despite the objection of the California commission and the strength of the London market, gave the bulls definite material to work on. Liberal buying here by London was a large factor in the upturn. Gains in the active issues ranged from 1 to 4 points, and many of the inactive specialties moved up in a striking manner. Bonds were irregular. Money on call, steady, at 3 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5 per cent. Exchanges, $330,922,318; balances, $17,141,855.

"THE NEW YORK IDEA."

Excellent Reading of Comedy by Strong Cast at Unity Club.

An excellent reading of the comedy, "The New York Idea," was given by the Unity Club in the Channing parlors Tuesday evening, Miss Emily M. Bradley in charge. President Taylor announced that as a result of the reading of "The Devil's Disciple" two weeks ago $25 had been sent to the children of the Newport Hospital.

The play is a modern one by Langdon Mitchell and is in four acts—House of Miss Heneage, Wednesday afternoon; house of Mrs. Vida Phillimore, Thursday, 11 a. m; house of Miss Heneage, Thursday, after dinner; house of Mr. John Karslake, Thursday, midnight. The play is a clever satire on the so-called "New York Idea" of marriage, laying down as a principle the ease with which marriages may be made and divorces secured and re-marriages entered upon. Philip Phillimore, a judge, is constantly meeting in society Mrs. Vida Phillimore, his divorced wife, as is John Karslake, lawyer, his divorced wife, Mrs. Cynthia Karslake. Mrs. Karslake is to be married to Mr. Phillimore, purely for social reasons, on the afternoon of the next day after the play opens. Disturbed at the thought as the time draws near she goes to the races with Sir Willfred Cates-Darby, returning late to the agitated Phillimore household to be married. As the ceremony is about to begin, however, she rushes to the home of her former husband, finds that their divorce is illegal and joyfully returns to him. The Phillimore couple is also re-united.

The four principal roles were taken by Mr. A. C. Sherman as Judge Phillimore, Mrs. Victor Baxter as Mrs. Phillimore, Mr. Joseph S. Milne as Mr. Karslake and Miss Gertrude Macomber as Mrs. Karslake. Mr. Sherman was excellent as the stiff, conventional judge; Mrs. Baxter, as the "sporty" divorcee was fascinating in gowning, action and reading. Her part was vivacious without being coarse and her lines and actions fairly sparkled with cleverness. Mr. Milne in the leading male role of Mr. Karslake was at his best as the lovable, human husband of Miss Gertrude Macomber, in the part of Mrs. Karslake, the high-tempered, but large-hearted wife. Both entered into the spirit of the play wholly and their scenes together were particularly fine.

Mr. L. W. Crandall as Sir Willfred Cates-Darby was the typical English sportsman and with his monocle was irresistibly funny. His consternation at the New York idea of marriage and divorce and at the "pace that kills" was amusing, as were his constant queries about American customs.

The minor parts were all well taken, as follows: Grace Phillimore, the Judge's sister, Mrs. H. H. Luther; Mrs. Phillimore, his mother, Miss Katherine Stevens; Miss Heneage, his aunt, Miss Marian Dowling; Matthew Phillimore, his brother, Dr. H. H. Luther; William Sudley, his cousin, Mr. A. O'D. Taylor; Brooks, footman, and Thomas, house servant, Mr. Fred P. Lee; Fiddler, Karslake's horse trainer, Mr. Henry Wheeler; Nogam, Karslake's valet, Dr. A. W. Stevenson; Benson, Mrs. Vida Phillimore's maid, Miss Katherine Manchester.

Although this play presents on the surface a light idea of the sacredness of marriage, it nevertheless shows that the tie binds, and that true love persists. Much credit for the success of the reading is due Miss Bradley and her strong cast. The stage was appropriately arranged and the clever little touches in stage furnishings were well brought out.

NEW STONE BRIDGE DELAY.

Commission Decides to Reject All Bids for Repairs.

There promises to be another delay in repairing the Stone Bridge. The commission advertised for bids, to be submitted at noon Monday, but not a single member of the commission was at the State House to receive them. The bidders finally agreed to leave their proposals with the secretary of state, Tuesday morning the commissioners gathered, and later said they had received the bids, opened them and would probably make an award in the afternoon. They did not, but Chairman Wilcox stated that they had decided that it would be better to reject all, advertise for new and have a member of the commission present to receive them.

Since the commission has had an opportunity to peruse the bids there is said to be a possibility that some of the bidders, who are large firms, will make a protest against the commission's methods of conducting its business. Mr. Wilcox said he thought they would advertise the new bids to open next Monday, which will make short time for some of the bidders to learn of the change and prepare new figures.

NARRAGANSETT BAY THE BEST SITE.

Congressman O'Shaunessy Again Calls Matter to Attention of the House.

Congressman O'Shaunessy addressed the House of Representatives Tuesday on the advantages of Narragansett bay for naval purposes and as to why the government could afford to make early use of it. His speech was made, not with any hope of securing legislation at the present session of Congress looking toward the establishment of a naval base on Narragansett bay, but rather with the idea of keeping the project fresh in the minds of Congress, so that it will be a familiar subject when the opportunity presents itself to bring the matter more fully before that body.

Mr. O'Shaunessy was emphatic in his statement that he did not champion Narragansett bay as a naval base merely because it was in his own state, but because he implicitly believed that it would be a wise movement for the government to make, and because naval experts have preceded him in his recommendation.

"I hope I shall always be recognized in this House as the gentleman from Rhode Island, instead of the gentleman for Rhode Island. I prefer to be national rather than logical in my political character, and in my zeal for my state not to overlook the nation's necessities. If there is any other naval base superior to Narragansett bay, then, I say, go and take it, and if the naval establishments now in Rhode Island are considered worthless, I say abolish them. But if, they are all that is desired to promote efficiency and economy, we ought to use them and sell some of the other places. I hope that the time is near when that shall be done.

"The Secretary of the Navy has spoken favorably of Narragansett bay as a naval base. The Secretary estimates that the cost would be $24,000,000 to $25,000,000, the sum to be obtained by the sale of other yards. I want to be firm and I want to be very honest in this statement. I would not be here advocating this if I believed that Narragansett bay was not the proper place. It is a harbor that can accommodate all of our battleships, and I want to say that I trust the Rhode Island legislature, before long, will have the pleasure of inviting the naval committee there and showing them how bountiful God Almighty has been in His gifts to Rhode Island."

ST. PAUL'S LADIES' NIGHT.

Elaborate Decorations for Entertainment, Supper and Dance.

St. Paul's Lodge, No. 14, A. F. and A. M., gave a ladies' night in Masonic hall Tuesday evening, with an entertainment, supper and dance. A large number of members of St. Paul's and other lodges were present with ladies, several hundred in all. The main hall was attractively decorated, the flags used at the Washington's birthday ball given by the Newport Artillery Monday evening being retained and a number of additional features being used. These included banners of St. Paul's and other Masonic emblems. The familiar compass and square with the mystic letter G in electric lights made a prominent part of the decorations. The stage was arranged with palms, potted plants and flowers and festoons of electric lights were hung across the ceiling. The entrance hall was changed into a reception room by the use of furniture, rugs and lamps.

The entertainment was provided by White's Musical Review Club of Boston, consisting of Marjorie Clifford, first soprano; Claire King, second soprano; Blanche Vedder, first contralto; Harriette Westcott, second contralto and piano; Mary Brooks, soprano and violin; Helen Grant, contralto and cello; May Parker, soprano and flute, and Jean Fowler, soprano and reader. The program included a chorus from Mexico, by the company; excerpts from "The Count of Luxemburg," by the instrumental quartet; scene from "Robin Hood," Misses Clifford, Kane and Vedder, in costume; reading of Eugene Field's "The Wooing of Miss Yopper," Miss Fowler; "Danse Tzigane," for the violin, Miss Brooks; "Little Miss Wooden Shoes," from "Hook of Holland," Misses Kane and Vedder, in costume; reading, "Troubles of Her Own," Miss Fowler; "Annie Laurie," Misses Clifford, Kane, Vedder and Westcott; "To a Wild Rose," MacDowell, and "Pabillon," Steinke, instrumental quartet; "Reed Bird," Misses Clifford, Kane and Vedder, in costume; medication from "Thais," Miss Brooks; "Three Little Maids from School," from "Mikado," Misses Clifford, Kane and Westcott, in costume, and old songs, by Miss Grant and the entire company.

After the entertainment a light supper was served and from 11 to 1 o'clock there was dancing.

The committee in charge consisted of Messrs. Dudley P. Bachelder, William H. Langley, Harrison Seabury, Charles W. Cowles and Herbert Bliss, with the officers of the lodge—Worshipful Master J. Powell Cozzens, Senior Warden C. H. Gesterling, Junior Warden Alexander J. MacIver, Treasurer William J. Cozzens, Secretary Thatcher T. Bowler, Chaplain Rev. William Safford Jones, Senior Deacon William MacLeod, Junior Deacon George E. Austin, Senior Steward Donald E. Speers, Junior Steward B. F. Downing, 3d., Musical Director Henry S. Hendy, Marshal John D. Richardson, Sentinel Arthur J. Ober and Tyler William H. Durfee.

NO PROVIDENCE BRANCH.

Only Engineers Office to be in Newport Building.

Collector George W. Gardiner, custodian of the federal building in Providence, has received notice from the Treasury Department in Washington that all the bids made for doing the work of fitting up the four offices on the fourth floor of the federal building in Providence for use by the engineers' office of the War Department have been rejected by the Treasury Department. The reason given is that the federal building appropriation bill now before Congress provides for a new building in this city, and that ample room will be made for the engineers therein.

CANVASSING THE PLAYGROUNDS.

Aldermen Hear Presentation of Advantages Offered by Different Sites.

City Solicitor Rules That the Fire Chief is Subject to the Direction of the Board.

Various matters were considered by the Board of Aldermen at the special meeting Tuesday evening, in addition to listening to talks on the various lots offered for playgrounds. A little more than an hour was spent on this and it was supposed that there would be nothing more, but there followed a somewhat lengthy discussion of the beach plans, or rather of the plans for the board walk. It seems that the board walk and the convention hall are likely to eat up about all the money available and there is some planning to see where costs can be reduced. It was decided that it was too late to attempt to cut specifications at that time.

The petition for the extension of the car line down Coggeshall avenue came up, and it developed that the mayor had already had a talk with President Sullivan on this matter. The city solicitor presented his opinion on the powers of the chief engineer of the fire department and the Board of Aldermen in relation to poles and wires. There was some talk on the ashes contract, which is now before the court, and it was decided to ask the Council to make provision for meeting the terms of the contract by an ordinance appropriating money each year during its life.

Mayor MacLeod presided and all the members were present. The meeting was held in the building inspector's office, which was crowded. There were six lawyers, by actual count; several owners of land, and several who were just interested in seeing what was going on. The gathering was large enough to have had the meeting in the aldermanic chamber, but no one was a candidate for a cold storage berth, so the meeting was held in a room really too small for the gathering.

Before the hearing Mayor MacLeod had two communications to read. One was an offer from H. D. DeBlois of his lot on Bellow and Hillside avenues, adjoining the Blackwell lot, measuring 430 feet on Bellow avenue, 400 on Hillside avenue and about 300 deep, containing 190,550 square feet. The price was $10,000

Then he had one from E. L. Dockray, executor of the estate of Margaret L. Blackwell, stating that H. L. Dyer was not authorized to offer the Blackwell lot for the price he had named. There was also a second and later letter, stating that he had authorized Mr. Dyer to offer the lot at five cents a foot, provided an order was secured from the court to sell it.

The mayor then called in order the list of places offered for sale as playgrounds. As he explained at the end, he called the list in the order of their cost, the cheapest being called first. That explains why the Anson Phelps Stokes place, Miantonomi hill, was first called. No one spoke about this at the time, though later there were some interesting remarks made by the members of the Board.

The Blackwell lot on Bellow avenue, next the Civic League lot, came next. Mr. Dyer, agent, had offered this for $7,401.40. He said the price should appeal to the board; the members had seen the lot and knew what it was. He explained some of his correspondence with Mr. Dockray in regard to this lot. He supposed when he made the first offer that he had a right to make it, as that was the price at which the lot was held, but apparently the value increased if the city was to buy it. He had communicated with Mr. Dockray since and finally he had agreed to allow him to offer the lot as it was originally offered. As he understood it, the court was simply the probate court, which would need to grant a permit for the sale of the land. Mayor MacLeod said this was a simple matter, a grant for a change of investment from real to personal.

No one spoke for the Bull estate in Middletown.

Mr. R. C. Bachelder spoke for the land he offered. He had made an offer at what he thought a fair price, the land is good; the board had seen it. He would sell as much as the city would need at 6½ cents a foot. The west part, where his house is, has a ledge; the east section, near Hillside avenue, seems the best for a playground, though the whole lot is level and fine land.

J. P. Mahoney appeared for Robert and Olga Rohange and spoke of the worth of the plot offered by them. This is on Vernon avenue, east of the car barn. The price, $6,500, is at the rate of about 6¾ cents a square foot. The lot contains 125,268 square feet. The atlas shows but 105,774, but that is what is in Newport; the rest is in Middletown. The atlas shows Caswell avenue extended through this lot, but this has not been done. The lot is whole, with nothing through it.

The lot has 325 feet front on Vernon avenue and a depth of 396 feet, affording ample space for all sports. A base ball field could be laid out in the southeast corner, in the northwest there is room for tennis courts, in the southwest space for such apparatus as would be needed, and also for a clubhouse. The location is as good as any offered, the land is high and dry, needing no drainage; it is within three minutes of Broadway. The site offers a good view of country life, of the ponds and what is so much desired by those who favor playgrounds. The lot is perfectly dry; being situated on the water shed of the ponds and drying by gravity, it does not need sewering. It is perfectly level and will require practically no work to fit it for the uses proposed.

If the board divides the money evenly between up town and down town the cost of this lot will leave $6,500 available for the fitting out of the up-town lot. He suggested that bleachers would be a desirable addition to afford seats for people to see the games and sports.

This lot is drier than the one offered by Mr. Dyer. He had visited both after the recent rain and found this lot perfectly dry. This is a very important matter to consider.

In answer to questions he said part of the land is in Middletown and the tax is $7.50 a year. Probably an arrangement could be made with Middletown to remit this tax, in view of the fact that Middletown children will play there. The fact that the land is partly in Middletown is of itself an advantage, for it is clearly on the outskirts, though accessible by car line and close to Broadway. It seemed undesirable to place a playground in the midst of a building section, as it would retard the needed growth. This seemed an ideal site for such a field.

The Civic League lot, owned by R. W. Curry, was next called. Mr. Curry said he was present because if he were not it might be thought that he took no interest in the matter. The board knew as well as he could tell them about this lot. It has been used for years as a playground, is well fitted for the purpose, dry and needing no drainage, perfectly level; the only thing necessary is some rolling. It has two streets to open on and the price is less than 10 cents a foot, about 9.3 cents. If this second proposition, to reserve a strip 100 feet wide on the Broadway front, were accepted, the city would then have a lot big enough for the purpose, at a reasonable price. It is easy of access, and the children are on a public way, in the view of people passing along Broadway.

Mr. Curry was asked if he could shade the price any, and replied that was a matter for deliberation; probably something could be done in that line. Mr. Mahoney, counsel for Mr. Rohange, suggested that the board had asked for prices and they had been given, and it would be unfair for other bidders to have a dickering of prices after the bids had been received; also, he said it would be unfair to receive offers of lots after the advertised time for presenting them. The board felt that it should do the best it could for the city and if it could secure a reduction in the price of a lot desired it was its duty to do so.

Mr. Dyer spoke for the Sheffield land on Bliss road. This is a large tract, from which it was supposed the city might take four acres, more or less, of the best land, that on Bliss road, where it is high and level. The price is 10 cents a foot.

Mr. Levy spoke for the Stanhope lot on Van Zandt avenue, opposite the Coggeshall school. This is not large enough for base ball, but would make an ideal playground in a section rapidly building up, and convenient to the school children. Mayor MacLeod suggested that the price, 25 cents a foot, was high. Mr. Levy said it is good land and not in the country, but convenient to the children and admirably suited for a playground.

He asked if the Board was disposed to receive offers of other lands, as he had heard of an owner who thought of offering a site. This brought out the objection from Mr. Mahoney. The mayor said the De Blois land had been offered since the bids were received. It was possible that other desirable sites might be had.

This ended the up-town sites and a shift was made to the down-town.

Mr. Dyer offered the Richmond land on Carroll and Ruggles avenues, about 800 feet from Harrison avenue. This has about five acres of fine, level grass and four acres of rocks, which could be made useful for the city without interfering with the use of the other part as a playground. The stone is the best to be found in the city and there is access to it from Old Fort road. The land is about 570 feet on Carroll avenue and the grass part is 420 deep and suitable for all sorts of sports. The rock is a valuable portion, and when used this four acres could be added to the playground.

He also offered the Samuel Smith lot on Bateman avenue. This has a grove in the west end and slopes down to the southeast. One lot, 50 by 100 feet, has been sold from this.

Mr. Harvey, appearing for Mr. Norman, offered the base ball ground, Wellington Park, for $14,000, subject to the opinion of the Base Ball Association. This is an ideal location for a playground, accessible from four sides, near the other parks. The area is 138,000 square feet and the price 10 cents a foot. The land is already drained and is in use and has been for years as a base ball park, and is suited for all sports, a running track, etc. The people in that vicinity are favorably disposed to its use as a playground, and without solicitation from the owners there was a largely signed petition by neighbors asking that the city buy this lot. He explained the option of the Base Ball Association and said Mr. Norman offered the lot so that if the Association should not exercise its option the city would have an opportunity to buy it.

There was some talk about rights of near-by owners to have Clinton street extended. Mr. Norman said Clinton street was never laid out through this land, and when the Base Ball Association leased the ground those who might have a right to expect Clinton street to be extended waived their rights.

Alderman Kelly said he had heard that some owners would be at the hearing to protest against the action of the board if Clinton street were not extended, but no one appeared and Mr. Norman said no one had any legal rights in the land.

M. A. Sullivan again spoke for the Base Ball Association and Wellington Park. He said that what Mr. Harvey had said was what he would have said. The Base Ball Association will pay Mr. Norman, so that he will be paid if the city buys from the Base Ball Association, should it exercise its option. It may be that some one else will come in and buy this fine place, which would make an ideal playground. The Association had not included the bleachers and grand stand in its offer, but he understood that it would. These would be desirable and are already there, and so the cost of building new ones would be saved. It seemed to him that this was the ideal site for playground, central, accessible, and where the people want it. The price is reasonable.

No one said anything about the Burdick land on Roseneath avenue.

The hearing was over. The mayor asked if any one who had not land to sell had anything to say in regard to locations, but no one responded.

The spectators generally disappeared and the board took up the matter of specifications for the board walk at the beach. Bids are expected on this Thursday, and after the eleventh hour—in fact, as it proved, the day after—the building inspector, looking over the specifications, found what he considered too much strength in the construction and also that the steps and rail on the north side were unnecessary.

There was considerable discussion. Some felt that the idea of the Beach Association was to fill completely the north side of the walk with buildings of some sort and that steps and a rail were unnecessary, still, a rail is necessary where there are no buildings, as people are just as likely to fall one way as the other. It was explained that the new walk is to have rails on the steps leading to the sand. The matter of the strength of the walk was not considered, as the mayor's suggestion that strength is a good feature seemed to meet the idea of all.

In view of the late date, it was decided that nothing could be done about change in plans, but that the bids must be received Thursday on
